Introduction

The Authors

This scoping and document collection project has been carried out by historian Heather Bassett. Heather has a BA(Hons) degree majoring in history from Waikato University. Copying assistance was provided by Richard Kay, who has a BA degree from Otago University and an MA(Hons) degree in history from Waikato University. Together, Bassett Kay Research has worked in the field of research for Treaty of Waitangi claims and negotiations since 1995 and completed 42 historical research reports. Based in Auckland, we have 28 years' experience with identifying files relating to Māori land held at Archives New Zealand.

Background and Project Brief

Bassett Kay Research was contracted in August 2023 by the Waitangi Tribunal Unit to complete this project for the Wai 45 Renewed Muriwhenua Inquiry. As part of the upcoming research programme the Tribunal plans to commission two Block History reports on post-1865 land blocks. In preparation for those projects Bassett Kay Research was required to:

- identify the relevant files held at Archives New Zealand in Auckland and compile this Bibliography and,
- view and digitally copy the relevant files to the extent possible within the six week timeframe of this project.

The very large number of relevant files held at Auckland Archives meant that in October 2023 the initial six-week timeframe was extended for a further six weeks. This allowed for most of the identified relevant sources (without access restrictions) to be digitised for the accompanying Document Bank. A similar complementary project was carried out for sources held at Archives New Zealand in Wellington by Suzanne Woodley. Together the two projects will form an initial Document Bank for the Block History reports.

Scoping Research Methodology

The Waitangi Tribunal Unit supplied a list of 160 Muriwhenua District blocks still in Māori ownership as at 1865, which will be the subject of future Block History research. The block names were used to guide searching for archival materials.

When the project started, we were aware that Auckland Archives holds thousands of Tai Tokerau District Māori land alienation files, which would be the primary source for the Block Histories. Conscious of the time constraints for the initial scoping phase, the decision was made to prioritise identifying and collecting the land alienation files.

To facilitate efficient searching for alienation files, we obtained copies of Archive's Excel spreadsheets for the main alienation files series. The ability to search in the spreadsheets circumvented the complications and difficulties of the new Collections search tool. The file series spreadsheets used were:

-11466: Tai Tokerau Alienation Files (7,742 files)
-1030: Tai Tokerau Māori Affairs Files (16,551 files)
-4997: Maōri Affairs Kaitaia (443 files)

After completing the searches of the above series, we then extracted additional references already identified by David Armstrong in his 'Te Paatu Scoping Report'.[1] The range of files collected by Armstrong reflected detailed searches for each block. However, his report was only focused on approximately 60 blocks on the eastern side of the inquiry district.

We then conducted our own searches with the Collections tool for those blocks not included in Armstrong's scoping report, with particular focus on those blocks which did not feature in the alienation file series. These searches, combined with the references from Armstrong, incorporated Lands and Survey Māori Land Block files, some Crown purchasing files from the mid to late twentieth century, and a small number of correspondence files from the Provincial Government and Māori Land Court.

Over 820 files were then viewed at Auckland Archives and photographed for the accompanying Document Bank. The priority focus was collecting all the land alienation files, and then other categories were viewed and digitised as time allowed. The following main types of files were included:

- Series 11466 Tokerau District Alienation Files: the Māori Land Board/Māori Land Court files are discussed more fully below.

[1] David Armstrong, 'Wai 45 Renewed Muriwhenua Inquiry District: Te Paatu Scoping Report', February 2002 (Wai 45, #T14).

- Series 1030 Māori Trustee Alienation Files and Vested Land Files: Almost all the 'alienation' files generated by the Māori Trustee are subject to access restrictions and were not viewed for this stage of the research. The 29/ 'Vested Land' group of files concern blocks which were vested in the Māori Trustee by the Māori Land Court to either lease or sell on behalf of the owners, and are not restricted. The Māori Trustee was commonly used in this way to arrange and execute alienations where blocks had multiple owners. Sometimes the blocks were vested in the trustee on the application of the owners who wanted to arrange for one of themselves, or a whanau member, to occupy the block, but applications could also be made by the local council if rates were unpaid and/or the land was 'unoccupied' or had noxious weeds. Many of the 29/ files concern long-term leases. Only selected documents were copied from these files in order to convey the alienation history while not copying unnecessary administrative paperwork, or personal financial details of lessees or owners.
- Series 1030 Conversion Files: A group of 60 files labelled 'conversion' were viewed and copied. Conversion was the process whereby uneconomic shares in land could be purchased by the Māori Trustee for on-sale to one of the owners. Although the files were labelled 'conversion', in almost all cases no actual conversion of uneconomic interests was implemented. The files are very small and consist of applications to the Māori Land Court for a consolidated list of owners. The files include the up-to-date list of owners at the time the application was made, along with land valuation details.
- Early Māori Land Court/Land Purchase Correspondence: The files are mostly very small, consisting of brief letters about the receipt of title investigation applications etc, as described in the file description.
- Lands and Survey Department Files: A small number of '20/ Maori Land Block' survey files were viewed and copied. They contain records relating to surveying the blocks and survey charges, along with laying off roads. Due to time restrictions the decision was made not to copy all the 29/ files for this stage of the research, but they may be useful if survey issues become apparent for particular blocks during the writing of the block histories. Many of the 20/ files are subject to access restrictions. The Bibliography includes Lands Department Maori Land Purchase files from the later twentieth century. Unfortunately most of these have restricted access and have not been consulted. Some files relating particularly to the status of off-shore islands, some of which were customary Māori land, have been copied.

Series 11466: Tokerau Māori Land Board Alienation Files

As explained above, the limited time for this scoping phase meant that the decision was made to focus on the Tai Tokerau Alienation Files for copying. The Tai Tokerau 11466 Alienation Files Series List contains over 7,000 files which were primarily generated by the Tai Tokerau District Māori Land Board, along with later Māori Land Court files after the board was abolished in 1953. We identified approximately 780 separate alienation files relating to blocks in the Wai 45 Inquiry District from the 11466 list.

The term 'alienation file' refers to records relating to the oversight of the sale, lease, mortgage or other transfer (such as exchange) of interests in Māori Land Court blocks. The Māori Land Board was charged with 'confirming' alienation agreements made by the owners, such as the sale or lease of individual interests, or implementing agreements made by official meetings of owners. Some of the files concerned land which had been 'vested' in the board, which then could arrange to sell or lease the blocks. After 1952 the Māori Land Court took over the role of confirming alienations.

In the first half of the twentieth century most of the alienations were leases or sales of interests to non-Māori, and some agreements to sell to the Crown. From World War Two onwards, the majority of the alienation files shift towards transactions between Māori. These could be sales or leases from the Māori owners to either one of the existing owners, or to Māori who were already occupying the block or who were neighbouring land owners/lessees. In the 1950s and 1960s alienations were often linked to development scheme arrangements, whereby the occupying unit farmer obtained sole title. In the later 1950s and into the 1960s there is a pattern of one owner purchasing all the shares of the other owners, particularly if one was owner in occupation. On occasion this is followed by another alienation a few years later when the now sole owner sells the block, which may have become uneconomic as a farming unit. The later twentieth century alienation files also included gifts of land between whanau members, often to be used as house sites.

The alienation files include a standard set of documents which were required to meet the legal and procedural requirements for the board/ to confirm an alienation. These usually include:

-the application for confirmation,
-a declaration by the purchaser/lessor,
-basic title information,

-an up-to-date list of the owners of the block and their share of interests in the block,
-information about the other land interests held by each vendor,
-signed and witnessed receipts for payments received,
-government valuation of the block,
-minutes of meetings of owners if applicable,
-proxy forms for voting at meetings of owners,
-council records of any outstanding rates to be paid,
-any outstanding survey charges.

Most of the files which have been copied are relatively small (up to 30-40 pages) and were straightforward confirmations. Larger files (up to 100 pages) could be generated where the Board decided to retain the purchase funds to control distribution to the owners, and the owners had to request payments for specific purposes and supply receipts etc. Where blocks had a large number of owners, long lists of ownership and interests in other lands, and many receipts and/or proxy forms create large files. In the case of leases, the ongoing tenancy generated large files with rent demands, renewals etc. There are a number of files which are over 150 pages long, and some over 200 pages long which represent a more complicated history.

It was common practice in the first half of the twentieth century for purchasers to conduct separate purchases from the individual owners of a block over time. The interest of an individual owner, or a small number of owners, could be purchased, and confirmed, while the non-sellers retained their interest. Many of the block alienation files contain a series of transaction over a few years as separate individual purchases were negotiated until the whole block was purchased, or the interests of the purchaser and non-sellers were partitioned into new subdivisions.

Each negotiated transaction was subject to a separate confirmation application, which was given a separate application number by the Māori Land Board (e.g. 2479) and generated a new application file. When subsequent applications for the same block were received a new file was created and given its own unique application number. However, it became the practice for new files relating to the same block (or subdivision) to be physically attached to the previous alienation file. Today, these applications make up one physical file of documents, but the Archives spreadsheet and Collections tool lists them as separate alienation files, with unique identifying R numbers, which are the numbers used to request files to view. The Archives system identifies the location of files by a box number, followed by a letter representing the order of files contained in each box (eg box 251/c is the third file in box 251). While the combined alienation files have separate R numbers, they all have the same box/letter identifier.

In the following Oharae block example, there are four separate applications (numbers 1721, 1726, 1972 and 2342) which have individual R numbers. However, each application reference is to box 59/g, which represents the one physical combined file. The whole file can be viewed at Archives by requesting any one of the four R numbers, and the R numbers do not have to be requested separately.

BAAI 11466 A39 59/g 1721 Alienation file Oharae, 1914 (R18421245) – includes:
-BAAI 11466 A39 59/g 1726 Alienation file Oharae - FROM: Tauhini Kingi and others 1914 (R18421250)
-BAAI 11466 A39 59/g 1972 Alienation file Oharae - FROM: Maihi Pene Te Kaitoa and others - TO: James Martyn Forster, 1915 (R18421865)
-BAAI 11466 A39 59/g 2342 Alienation file Oharae, 1908-1917 (R18422007)

In the following Bibliography we have listed the references for combined files as per the Oharae example above. The listing shows the name of each application file and the relevant date. However, in the Document Bank of files which have been digitised, the files are arranged into folders which only have the name and reference numbers of the first file, as it is not possible to include all the references in a folder name. This means that, for the example above, the name of the digital folder of photographs is only 'BAAI 11466 A39 59-g 1721 Alienation file Oharae, 1914 (R18421245)'.

A Note on Series 1030 Development Schemes Files

The Māori Affairs Tai Tokerau 1030 series list includes files which cover a range of land alienation and administration matters, along with files relating to Māori development, housing, and other social and welfare programmes. Due to the large amount of alienation files in both the 1030 and 11466 series, there was not time to include the hundreds of files in the 1030 series generated by the Māori land development department, and later land development financing by Board of Native Affairs or the Māori Trustee. The following Bibliography therefore does not include any of the land development scheme or unit files. The Muriwhenua Development schemes may be subject to a separate research project as part of the renewed inquiry.

For the purposes of any further specific land development research projects, or for claimant groups seeking information on hapū or whanau interests in development schemes, the 1030 series can be searched by block name and/or the names of individual unit farmers to locate development scheme files.

For general guidance, the Mangonui Development Scheme file series included various subdivisions of the following blocks:

Ahipara,	Aputerewa,	Herekino-Manukau,
Kareponia,	Karikari,	Kinoti,
Maimaru,	Mangatawa,	Manukau,
Merita,	Okakewai,	Otangaroa,
Oturu,	Parapara,	Peria,
Pukepoto,	Te Ahua,	Waimanoni,
Whakapouaka,	Whatuwhiwhi.

There were also larger ‘development farms’ as part of the Mangonui scheme:

Ngataki Farm,
Te Kao Farm,
Manukau Farm,
Te Hapua Farm,
Oturu Farm,
Onepu Farm,
Parengarenga Farm,
Karikari Scheme,
Ngati Kahu Scheme

There are also hundreds of individual files under the name of unit farmers. Most of the individual unit farm files and development loan files are subject to access restrictions.

Bibliography of Post-1865 Land Alienation and Administration Files at Archives New Zealand, Auckland Office

The following Bibliography is arranged alphabetically according to the Archives New Zealand reference system. This means that the files are listed according to the four letter Agency code for the department or agency which generated the files. Within each Agency list, the files are arranged by series number, and then in box number order. It will be seen that many of the Māori Trustee and Lands and Survey files are subject to access restrictions, and consent will need to be obtained from the relevant agency to view and access these files for future research. The files which were viewed and photographed for this project are marked 'DIGITISED' and have been compiled into an accompanying Document Bank.
